To run this search engine, open the folder in a JupyterLab notebook. From there open the file named SearchEngine.ipynb. Run the cells in order and follow the link generated to see the website. Please note: to save you time, you do not have to run the build_index function; I’ve built and included the index.db with this program.